

FIG. 3. Protein concentrations of diets which will provide the average requirement (solid curve) and average = two standard deviations (dotted curves) of protein for a 2- to 3-year-old child. Vertical lines are estimates of minimum energy intake (broken line) and the average and individual range of minimum physiological energy requirements (solid and dotted lines).